Dear Colleague,

I am very pleased to inform you that today Quanta announced that we have entered into an agreement to acquire InfraSource Services, Inc. I am very excited to share this news with you, as I believe the merger of our companies will create new and exciting opportunities for Quanta, our customers and our employees.

Once the transaction is completed, the combined company will be an industry leader in specialized contracting services with operations in all 50 U.S. states and in Canada, more than 16,000 skilled employees and the largest equipment fleet in the industry. Our enhanced size, flexibility and capabilities will allow us to better meet the evolving infrastructure needs of our customers in the electric power, natural gas, telecommunications and cable television industries.

InfraSource's services will complement and enhance Quanta's capabilities in several areas, including engineering, transmission and distribution installation and maintenance, substation and industrial services, natural gas distribution, telecommunications installation and maintenance and dark fiber leasing. You also might be interested to know that InfraSource's culture is complementary to ours, and that they are similarly focused on achieving operational and safety excellence.

The combined company, which will maintain the Quanta name and continue to be headquartered in Houston, will be better positioned to meet customers' needs and respond to the dynamics that are driving our industry, such as the aging national power grid, growth of the electric power industry and increase in outsourcing of infrastructure installation and maintenance functions. The combined company will also have the increased scale and flexibility to better respond to emergency situations across the nation.

As part of a stronger, larger organization, I believe this transaction will bring significant benefits to our employees. While there are always some changes involved in a transaction like this, the combination of our businesses is not expected to have a major impact on your day-to-day activities, and we are not anticipating that it will result in a significant operations headcount reduction.

Please keep in mind that this announcement is the first step in a long process and before our companies can combine, certain conditions, such as shareholder and regulatory approvals, must be met. As we say in the attached press release, we don't expect this transaction to close until the third quarter of this year. Therefore, it is vitally important that you continue your excellent work and remain focused on your responsibilities so that Quanta can continue to grow, serve our customers well and reach our financial goals. We are committed to keeping you updated on the transaction process and to make sure you learn about important developments on a timely basis. If you have any additional questions, please do not hesitate to contact your direct supervisors.

I will address your questions directly during a company-wide webcast early next week for all corporate and operating unit employees. Submit questions prior to the call via questions@quantaservices.com. In the meantime, additional information on this announcement can be found at www.quantaservices.com.

Thank you for your support, dedication and hard work. This is a very exciting time for our company, and your continuing contributions are essential to our success.

Sincerely,
